“The Synodal Process: Offering hope and healing for Lay Ministers”

Jamie Moloney

As lay ecclesial ministers, we know the joys, sorrows, and challenges of ministering and serving others. All of us have experienced the pain and brokenness within our own church. We need healing as much as those we serve. This presentation will include summaries from the synodal process through the National Association for Lay Ministry that was sent to Rome. Hear what ministers across the nation are saying about their role in the church. We will have time for discussion as we share how we can support each other in healing toward wholeness.
